

Preparedness for Natural Disasters Course

RPS Partnership is pleased to announce a 2-day Preparedness for Natural Disasters (PND) course deliverable at a location of your choice or using our training facilities in the north or south of the United Kingdom.

RPS Partnership specialises in making training courses as realistic as possible, planning for the worst possible scenario, to ensure that you are fully prepared to deal with any challenges that you may face in an unfamiliar environment.

Our PND Course has been designed by experts in the field who will share their experiences of working in natural disaster response. They will ensure your staff and volunteers are ready for the rigours of living and working post-disaster.

Our course will consider earthquakes, cyclones, hurricanes, volcanic eruptions, landslides and flooding. We will look at how each event affects populations and the infrastructure, allowing your staff to be better prepared for the challenges of travelling, living and working in these areas.

We cover:

Analysis of Disaster Characteristics - Development of Organisational and Personal Risk Strategies

Preparedness Action Planning - Accommodation Safety and Security

Medical Risk Assessment - Improvised First Aid

Communication modes and challenges

Outside living - Electrical Safety

Vehicle/Transport Safety

Why RPS Partnership?

We have a diverse and unique team of male and female consultants. Our trainers bring a wealth of up to date experiences back into the learning environment of our courses to share real time experiences and advice with you. All RPS Partnership consultants are qualified trainers and hold nationally recognised training qualifications. Some hold qualified teacher status and are qualified and certified to train trainers.
